

SIMPLEX 500 AUTOMATIC TIME RECORDER LETS YOU MANAGE BY EXCEPTION

For small businesses, time is money. Retail and manufacturing facilities; restaurants, hotels, and clubs; healthcare and assisted living facilities; schools; and all kinds of service businesses need to keep operations on schedule. And it's important to be able to identify attendance problems immediately.

The Simplex 500 automatic time recorder is an easy-to-use, economical tool that will keep your business running smoothly. In addition to accurate time keeping, it can also send signals to ring bells or chimes throughout your facility.

This simple and dependable time recorder makes it easy to coordinate activities throughout the entire business.

Your employees will find the Simplex 500 easy to use and understand. Punches are automatically aligned on the time card, so employees can punch in or out in seconds and immediately see their work hours recorded. Any punches outside scheduled start and stop times are highlighted in red, so your payroll manager saves time calculating overtime and late deductions.

Unlike complex software systems for recording time, the Simplex 500 takes virtually no time to set up. No special wiring is required; just plug it in. Simplex also offers factory-trained technicians that can program your clock to meet your business schedule and pay periods. With 32 programmable time slots, multiple options for column displays and print formats, the Simplex 500 will save time and money in a wide variety of small business applications.

Simplex 500 Simplifies Time Keeping

Two-color printing makes time cards easy to read, calculate, and analyze. Programmed exceptions (late arrivals, early departures, overtime) can be printed in red. Choose from four print formats for day and hour. Set up the column structure you prefer.

Signals to bells and chimes The Simplex 500 can send a signal to ring bells for start times, end times or breaks in schedules.

Accommodates multiple schedules Set up as many as 32 programs that automatically position punches, depending on the time. Print up to six columns.

Enables many options for pay processing Select from weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly pay periods with whatever closing dates you choose. Choose regular minutes (1/60) or 1/100 of an hour.

Eliminates set-up by employees The Simplex 500 automatically feeds, punches in the correct column, and ejects the time card after printing. When necessary, you may change input print positions by pushing a single button to accommodate late arrivals or early departures.

Operates dependably, year after year The Simplex 500 automatically adjusts to current day, month, and year without manual resetting at the end of the month; automatically adjusts for daylight savings time; and automatically corrects time after a power failure (built-in lithium back-up battery).

Simplifies time keeping With no special wiring, no PC programming, and straightforward, intuitive operation, the Simplex 500 lets you concentrate on your business. Time keeping takes care of itself.

Simplex means service.

Simplex has an excellent record of service and support, with more than 350,000 time recorders installed worldwide. If desired, an experienced Simplex employee can install and program your time recorder, so your Simplex 500 will be up and running immediately.
